Star Wars Night 12/20/2023

On Wednesday December 20th, our own LTCDR Jeff Franciski, as part of Star Wars Indiana, a partnership of the local 501st and Rebel Legion organizations, partook of the Indiana Pacers Star Wars Night.

In his usual role as the handsome scoundrel Han Solo from "that other franchise", Jeff entertained the crowd with his cohorts with fan interactions on the concourse, pregame festivities, and the traditional "t-shirt toss" during the fourth quarter. From the smallest child to the oldest "young at heart" adults, all enjoyed their interactions with the Star Wars characters and the members of Star Wars Indiana loved being a part of the festivities and bringing smiles to everyone's faces, including the staff of the Pacers and players from both teams. Live Long and Prosper and May the Force be with you!

We are kicking off the new year with a month's worth of horror features from various eras — starting off with two Universal 1930s films that demonstrate so well the atmosphere the studio was known for in that era. First, it's the rarely-seen shocker The Invisible Ray — in which Karloff has discovered a healing ray... that can also bring death! Bela Lugosi co-stars as the doctor who is his adversary — and could be his victim! We follow that up with our second '30s entry — one that we have had many requests for since we first ran it on our show last year — 1932's The Old Dark House. Karloff is a menacing mute butler in an old decrepit mansion owned by some odd unstable characters — naturally, the perfect place for unsuspecting guests to be stranded! The amazing cast includes Charles Laughton, Gloria Stuart, and Ernest Thesiger, in a mix of thrills with a dash of comedy.

Then, we jump to the 1960s for a chapter in Britain's Hammer Studio's Frankenstein series — with Peter Cushing as Dr. Frankenstein, still being pursued for his ungodly experiments, returning to his home town, finding his home has been looted by the local corrupt authorities, and locating his missing creation for use in getting back at his enemies! We round out January with some 1970s horror: the original Willard — starring Bruce Davison as the title character, who is constantly put upon by his nagging mother and her friends, and his shifty boss, who stole the company from his father. He's no Dr. Dolittle, but he learns to talk to the animals — specifically, rats — and uses them as his instrument of revenge. Ernest Borgnine, Elsa Lanchester, and Sondra Locke are among the humans in the cast. So, this month goes from radiation all the way to infestation — with humans, non-humans and sub-humans.

JAN 6	Invisible Ray Vintage Boris and Delia!
JAN 13	The Old Dark House The original version!
JAN 20	Evil of Frankenstein Cushing 'Hammers' home the horror!
JAN 27	Willard The original 1971 version of the vicious vermin!
