Let Me Tell You

Let me tell you about MY
Jesus

He makes a way
where there ain't no way
Rises up from an empty grave
Ain't no sinner that He can't save
Let me tell you 'bout my Jesus
His love is strong and His grace is free
And the good news is I know that He Can do for you what He's done for me
Let me tell you 'bout my Jesus
And let my Jesus change your life

Our movie schedule this month goes from sci fi to sitcom — and from iconic to — uh — inebricated? (You know, there's a LOT of drinking in the Killer Shrews) ... we start out with some outer space science fiction from 1959 — in which a team of astronauts travel to the planet Mars — which seems strangely still and foreboding — until various frightening menaces reflect the attitude of the Angry Red Planet! It seems appropriate that our show follows the 3 Stooges — since part of the production team on this film is Norman Maurer, Moe Howard's son-in-law! We follow that up with one of those favorites that viewers request again and again — with the head of TV's first family of fright inheriting a title and manor in England, but facing opposition from

From there, following up one vampire, Grandpa Munster in London, we have yet another — it's another often requested movie, of the classic variety — the iconic Universal film that established Bela Lugosi as the legendary count from Transylvania — it's the original 1931 Dracula! We wind up the month with James Best — doing his best to fight off mutated giant carnivorous shrews on a remote island in 1959's cult classic The Killer Shrews. Alcohol consumption and the shrews' memorable "make-up" are just part of the fun. (With the shrews being portrayed by dogs, maybe we should have saved this one for the Dog Days of August!) All in all, our July movies are perfect for the red (planet), white (the pale make-up of our ghoulish stars) and blue (maybe that should be SHREW)!
