Labor Day

Labor Day is here! It's time to say good bye to summer. We wish everyone a Happy Labor Day. Be it with one last barbeque, the last dive in the pool, or picnic. Everyone have a wonderful Labor Day weekend.

Star Trek Day

The world didn't know they were about to witness the beginning of one of the biggest franchises. Where would we be without this little show? Does anybody remember watching the first show on 09/08/1966?

September 11 2001

On the morning of Tuesday, September 11, 2001, nineteen terrorists—directed by al Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden—hijacked four commercial airliners mid-flight while traveling from the northeastern U.S. to California. The attackers were organized into three groups of five members and one group of four, with each group including one designated flight-trained hijacker who took control of the aircraft. Their goal was to crash the planes into prominent American buildings, inflicting mass casualties and major structural damage. The hijackers successfully crashed the first two planes into the North and South Towers of the World Trade Center in New York City, and the third plane into the Pentagon in Arlington, Virginia. The fourth plane was intended to hit a federal government building in Washington, D.C., but instead crashed down in a field outside Shanksville, Pennsylvania, following a passenger revolt that foiled the attack.

Our September schedule is another assortment of various villainy, in different forms! Take, for example, our first weekend's movie — a cult classic that will only aggravate some people's fears of clowns. These grease-paint goons, however, are actually aliens out to turn our planet into a three-ring circus of horrors! The man who played "Dean Wormer" in Animal House John Vernon is the caustic cop who — unfortunately — doesn't believe that there could be Killer Klowns from Outer Space! The next week, we have a 1950s classic for you — where simple everyday creatures become a huge problem for a man who is exposed to a weird fog that causes him to get smaller and smaller! Grant Williams is the diminishing unfortunate who must battle now-oversized menaces in Richard Matheson's The Incredible Shrinking Man.

There's more Matheson-written mayhem for the rest of the month with some Dan Curtis productions — up next, it's the made-for-TV movie that spawned a second movie and the TV series, featuring Darren McGavin as the rumbled reporter who stumbles on supernatural stories — Carl Kolchak — in his first outing, trying to convince Las Vegas authorities that a series of killings are being committed by... a vampire! The title is where the name of the Kolchak series came from — The Night Stalker! We wind up the month with another Dan Curtis production — which has three unusual tales — including a time-travelling car, a husband who won't believe that his wife is the victim of a vampire, and a grieving mother who uses black magic to bring back her son from the dead! Featuring, among others, Ed Begley Jr. and Patrick Macnee, it's the 1977 anthology — Dead of Night (not be confused with the 1945 British film of the same name.) With these movies, you'll get a fair amount of chills to add to when the autumn chill begins to set in!
